

Make a Donation to the Fondation Napoléon

to help promote the Study and Understanding of the two French Empires.

Since the Fondation Napoléon is a registered charity (Reconnue d'utilité publique par décret du 12 novembre 1987), gifts made to it by private individuals or companies fiscally resident in France are tax-deductable.

Tax-deductable gifts

For individuals paying tax in France, donations known as 'manual donations', meaning direct payments to the Fondation Napoléon in cash, cheque or bank transfer, result in an income tax reduction of 66% of the amount of the donations, with donations limited to 20% of the donor's taxable annual revenue.

Companies registered fiscally in France, can benefit from an income tax reduction equivalent to 60% of the donation amount, with a limit of €5 per €1000 of pre-tax turnover.

For more information consult our website www.fondationnapoleon.org, at the section: "Supporting the Fondation Napoléon".

We are currently looking to finance several projects of key importance for Napoleonic history. If you would like to make a donation, and make a difference, to one or more of the following, please use the form overleaf:

- Publication of Napoleon's correspondence

In 2001, the Fondation Napoléon launched a major publishing project, the General Correspondence of Napoléon Bonaparte, a scholarly updating of the incomplete (and not impartial) first edition published during the Second Empire. Eleven of the planned fifteen volumes have already been published, and the last volumes should be completed by 2018, making available, both to researchers and enthusiasts, an indispensable resource containing over 42,000 letters by Napoleon I.

- Development in higher education with the Chaire Napoléon

In 2014, the Fondation Napoleon set up a 'Chaire Napoléon' at the Institut Catholique d'Etudes Secondaire in La Roche-sur-Yon (France). As well as running a course on the Consulate and the Empire for second year History undergraduates, the 'Chaire Napoléon' organises lectures and study days for the general public and is also enriching the Napoleonic content of the University Library.

- Scholarships for young researchers in Napoleonic studies

Every year, the Fondation Napoléon provides study grants of 7,500 euros each for seven doctoral students. It is possible to make a donation to this fund or indeed have a Study Grant named after a donor, which will be given once a year (contact us if you wish to create an annual study grant in your own name).

- Development of the Fondation Napoléon's digital library

In 2010, the Fondation Napoléon launched its own digital library. It aims to make available to the greatest number, in optimal consultation conditions, important works related to the First and the Second Empire, as a complement to the tremendous work already accomplished in this respect by the BNF (Bibliothèque Nationale de France). About 150 books have already been digitised, and consulted by tens of thousands of readers.

It is also possible to make a non-specific donation to the Fondation Napoléon, for all of its activities.
